FROM PULPIT TO PROSPECTING

FORMER MINISTER NOW
A PROSPEROUS MINER

Rev. W. J. Hughes, formerly Presbyterian Sunday School Missionary for Eastern Oregon, Now Manager of Two Flourishing Mining Companies of Baker City—Needed Rest from Preaching and Was Attracted to Prospecting.

Forsaking the pulpit for the pick and shovel of the prospector, Rev. W. J. Hughes, formerly Presbyterian Sunday school missionary for Eastern Oregon, has become one of the leading mining promoters of the Sumpter district.

Six years ago Mr. Hughes, whose home is in Baker City, decided to quit the pulpit temporarily, for the excitement and more remunerative employment of mining.

He was eminently successful, and while he had had but little experience in prospecting, he located several valuable claims, one in Lost Basin, five miles from Durkee, in Baker county, known as the Oregon Free Gold mine, from which 3800 pounds of quartz recently sent to the smelter yielded $295.78.

He also located the Equity group of 19 claims in the Quartzburg district adjoining the Standard Consolidated mines, of which Zoeth Houser, of Echo, is principal owner.

One taken from these claims has assayed as much as $1,000 per ton in gold, silver, copper, iron and zinc. Mr. Hughes is an indefatigable worker and performs all kinds of labor, from handling a drill to selling stock. His mining discoveries have been among the most important events in the history of the districts in which he operates. In speaking of his leaving the work of the ministry, Mr. Hughes said to the East Oregonian today:

"For the greater portion of my life I have earnestly followed the ministerial calling and naturally desired a change of occupation for a time.

"Prospecting being a healthful, intensely interesting and very often a profitable calling, peculiarly free from the intense pressure of business and professional life, I was strongly attracted to it. Being fairly successful in my first prospecting ventures, the resulting business has grown so large that it requires all my time to manage it.

"I have the highest regard for the work of the ministry. My life is linked to it, and I cannot say that I have forsaken it."

Mr. Hughes was in Pendleton yesterday, selling stock in his mining propositions and visiting the family of James Crawford, old acquaintances and co-workers of Mr. Hughes in the Presbyterian church.

As Sunday school missionary for Eastern Oregon, Mr. Hughes' work called him to every remote corner of the country, and he has traveled every stage road and pony trail in the mountain district in the discharge of the duties of a missionary. He was once pastor of the Presbyterian church at Union and later at La Grande.

DR. PENROSE RETURNED.

Business Conditions in the East He States Are Good.

A sure victory for Roosevelt, is the prediction of Stephen B. L. Penrose, president of Whitman college, who arrived home today from a three weeks' trip east. Dr. Penrose was in Pendleton for a few hours this morning.

"I believe," he said, "that the Roosevelt majority in New York state will be in the nature of a landslide. Everywhere I went the feeling appeared to be in favor of the republican ticket."

Dr. Penrose was in attendance at the American Board of Foreign Missions of the Congregational church, which convened at Grinnell, Iowa, and was present at the National council of the Congregational churches held at Des Moines, Iowa.

"I do not know just what is doing at the college," he remarked. "My trip East was not on business connected with the school. After my attendance at the board meeting and the council I went to New York, Philadelphia and Hartford, Conn. In spite of the fact that election is so near, business conditions appear fairly good."

"The weather has been excellent, and I have had no occasion to use an umbrella for a fortnight, and had little occasion to don an overcoat."

SUIT FOR DIVORCE.

Mrs. Rose Charged With Desertion and Misconduct.

Wallace LeRoy Rose drew the line when his wife, May Rose, threatened his life as well as her own, declared she would take poison and then deserted him. Such actions are unwelcome, and he desires a divorce. Action was instituted in the state circuit court this morning by his attorney J. T. Hinkle.

The Roses were married in this city on the 25th day of last February. Soon afterwards, the plaintiff alleges, his wife began to make life burdensome for him and finally on September 1, took up her belongings and departed.

NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

Ben Holt's Favorite Driver Can't Keep Up With Modern Improvements.

"I am able to stand civilization and modern improvements, provided they don't come too strong," remarked Ben Holt of Walla Walla, last night. "but I've got a horse that can't." Mr. Holt had been discussing the street paving of the Garden City and the general condition of the town since it went on the operating table last summer.

"It's steam rollers, Dago laborers, rock crushers and all the other paraphernalia that goes with street repairing that has done the work with my horse. She has been frightened so many times that she has nervous prostration, and I find myself with a steed on my hands that, while she looks all right and is a good goer, isn't worth shucks. Look at her out of the corner of your eye nowadays and she takes a trembling fit and is out of commission for the rest of the day. Her name isn't Maud, either."

FIRST CLASS HYPNOTISM.

Tom Nye's Blindfold Drive Also a Great Success.

Tom Nye, hypnotist, made his farewell appearance before a Pendleton audience at the Frazer theater last night. The entertainment was one of the best Mr. Nye has ever presented in the city. With a class of more than a dozen subjects, the hypnotist performed acts of comedy, feats of strength and gave several demonstrations of cataleptics. Mr. Nye is soon to leave Pendleton to return to work and was urged to give the last performance in order that his friends might have another opportunity of seeing his powers.

Nye's blindfolded drive yesterday afternoon was a wonderful demonstration of the hypnotist's power of mind reading or telepathy. Starting at the Frazer theater a party composed of Fred Shumacher, Sheriff T. D. Taylor, Fred Nolf and Fred Boettcher, drove in a circuitous manner to Teutsch's store and secreted a knife behind a pile of ribbon boxes and then returned to the opera house. Nye, securely blindfolded, took the reins and in a gallop drove the team over the exact route taken by the committee on the previous journey. Jumping out of the carriage in front of Teutsch's he rushed into the store, holding to the hand of one of the committee, and returned a moment later with the knife.

Twice during the ride the blinded driver was thrown off the seat by the action of the men with him. Once, as the team dashed around the street at Main and Court streets, the men with Nye became alarmed by his reckless gait. "I could see nothing for a second," said the hypnotist. "and if the men with me had not regained their composure at once I would have dashed into the First National bank with my team. At the store where a number of persons saw the knife secreted I was puzzled for a moment or two by reason of so many minds being centered on the subject."

In explanation of his manner of driving blindfolded, Nye said: "I place my mind in harmony with the thoughts of the committeemen who make the drive with me, and cause them to concentrate their mind on the hidden object, and the course previously driven over. In that way I am able to see as in a dream."

"The Hills of California."

"The Hills of California," a beautiful rural classic, will be presented by a good company at the Frazer on Saturday night, November 5. The company comes well recommended and the attraction promises to be one of the best of that class of plays coming to the city this season.

WHY MOTHERS WORRY

Did you ever hear a mother worry over a plump child? There is no better bank of health for a child to draw from than a good supply of healthy flesh.

Scott's Emulsion not only gives a child weight and plumpness, but it feeds the brain, bones and nerves with strength and active power.

Fewer mothers would worry if they knew more about Scott's Emulsion.

FORSHAW IN FIELD

WILL GATHER MATERIAL FOR THE LEWIS AND CLARK

Operates Under Authority of the County Court and of the Commercial Association in the Collection of Grains, Grasses, Fruits and all Other Products Suitable to Be Put on Exhibition—First Trip One of Reconnaissance Only.

Active work in the gathering of a county exhibit for the Lewis and Clark fair will begin tomorrow morning. S. H. Forshaw, who is commissioned by the county court and the Pendleton Commercial association to secure the materials of grains, grasses and fruits, will begin at Milton.

"I will not collect any stuff on my first trip," said Mr. Forshaw, "but intend to go over the Freewater and Milton neighborhood for the purpose of letting the people know what I desire. I carry a number of recipes for the preserving of fruits and will give out copies of these.

"Fruits will be the first thing gathered. The county court will give $50 toward the exhibit and more if necessary. I will do all in my power to hold down expenses, so that a large and creditable showing may be made by Umatilla."

Mr. Forshaw is acting under the personal direction of a committee from the Commercial association appointed by President J. A. Borie. W. D. Hansford is chairman of this committee.

REGENTS WILL MEET.

Will Make Resume of Normal College's Finances.

For the purpose of securing a business resume of the Eastern Oregon State Normal School at Weston, the board of regents will meet there within the next few days and confer with President R. C. French. The expenses of conducting the school are met by annual appropriations made by the state legislature, and the coming visit will be made to give the regents an idea of the cost of maintaining the institution during the next two years.

At the last session of the legislature only $14,000 was appropriated for the running expenses of the Weston Normal, and it is claimed this amount has proven inadequate. Six thousand dollars was appropriated for improvements and new equipment at the school, but this sum could not be applied to the running expenses of the school.

Just how much money will be required to conduct the school is not known. The regents will make a careful study of the cost of educating each student, the number of graduates teaching, the number of students failing to complete the required course, the work of the various members of the faculty, and other details of the institution's affairs.

Members of the regents residing in Pendleton are Chairman R. Alexander, William Blakley and Col. James H. Raley.

Will Appeal to the Courts.

If the city council does not harken to the petition of the residents of Pendleton in Precinct etoinnanau Pendleton precinct to abate a certain carpet cleaning apparatus, which they declare is a nuisance of the worst kind, the civil courts will be appealed to. Attorney Joe Hinkle, who represents the petitioners, says the peace and dignity of the neighborhood and the future welfare and happiness of the inhabitants depend upon the disposal of the carpet cleaner.

Hell's Gate to Golden Gate.

Col. George French, commanding the Pacific province of the Salvation army, accompanied by Major Robert Dublin, commanding the Northwest division, will arrive in Pendleton tomorrow. The colonel will speak in the evening at Hendricks' hall. Col. French is one of the foremost Salvationists in the United States, and has been engaged in religious work for a number of years. He will lecture on the subject of "From Hell's Gate to Golden Gate."
